

Margaret, Part 1

Back in the 70's when we first moved to Dorking I was too young to start Primary school. In Wales where we had lived, school started at 4 years old but in Surrey it was 5. My mum pleaded her case with Dorking Nursery School and they took me for two terms before I started Primary. I can still remember the feeling of painting my hands with glue, or times spent playing and staring up at the rocking horse.

Next week we will hear more from Margaret, and her children's education at Dorking Nursery School and Children's Centre. She will introduce us to her son and daughter, Mark and Emma. 'Through my own education, my children's education and finally a job, nursery has always been part of my life'.
